To Whom It May Concern:

It's my honor and pleasure to provide this letter of recommendation for Aaron Spector as he pursues employment with you. As the Head of School of South Suburban Montessori School, I've had the privilege of knowing and working with Aaron as our music teacher for the past 9 years.

I wholeheartedly endorse his candidacy as he seeks a position with your organization. It's my wish that he finds a community that supports his talent and passion for teaching music. Aaron brought a wealth of knowledge and depth to our music program. His experience and expertise allowed our music program to grow as the school grew in number and encompass a broader span of age-levels. His mastery of and commitment to teaching a wide range of students is one of the many qualities that makes Aaron an asset to any community wishing to have a strong music program. He was able to successfully bond with and conduct sing-a-longs with our toddlers and then equally as well conduct a full band of elementary and Middle School students.

Aaron also impressed me with his commitment to lifelong learning and his strong belief that music brings discipline and order to other aspects of a student's character and life. Aaron welcomed feedback from his students, inviting them to share their experiences. It is this commitment to growth and his students' well-being that makes Aaron an outstanding educator who empowers his pupils in more than just music.

Aaron has my highest regard as a person of integrity, commitment, and dedication. His passion was manifested in all he did. I look forward to learning more about what lies ahead for him. Please don't hesitate to contact me for any further information. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Amy Mackie-Barr
